Our company is made up of experts in Traditional Chinese Medicine and has its own certified herbal products portfolio. With 25 years of experience, we have a huge number of satisfied clients. The founder, Dr. Petr Hoffmann, has brought together his TCM expertise and the highest quality production (with all the batches assured by laboratory certifications). The unique approach uses only the highest quality herbs, without any pesticides or chemical residues. This, together with our precise yet gentle approach to herbs processing has resulted in an unrivaled portfolio of herbal products. The goal of TCM Herbs is to work together with even more doctors, dealers and retailers. However, they must focus on quality products and services as well as customer's satisfaction, resulting in recurring business and new referrals.

The vision of TCM Herbs is to focus on people's wellbeing and the maintenance of excellent health.

Products and individual herbs

TCM Herbs products Quality & Safety

“Our manufacturing process leads to superior quality and ultimate product safety”

We build long-term relations with our partners and customers, that is why we supply only the highest quality grade TCM herbal products and single herbs. From the careful selection of herbs from prime farming locations, through testing before import, our selection process of the raw herbs is tailored to perfection in order to comply with the strict herbs and products certification process.

When raw herbs are being primarily processed and prepared, precision, know-how and advanced experience are required in order to pass the strict quality control. The production process doesn't include any industrial methods and the drying takes place in the sun. Due to this natural process, microorganism are still alive. In order to make the herbs safe, clean, stable and constant, herbal extract is boiled by cooking raw materials which is made into concentrated form. By cooking, the herbs are “cleaned” from all the microorganisms.

If this step was skipped and raw herbs were supplied, nobody could guarantee the quality and the consistency of the products. Independent testing of raw herbs available on the market has revealed that other TCM suppliers selling raw herbs and herbal recipes provide customers with contaminated products containing pesticides, fungi as well as trace amounts of salmonella!

Once the initial tests have been passed, single herbs are supplied by our well-established partner in Taiwan. From there they go straight to our processing facilities in Belgium, where the final products are prepared using our own unique and well-proven formulas. After product finalization, every single batch is tested again (a sample of 400g from each batch is sent by plane to Phytax laboratory in Switzerland for final testing).

The processing of herbs by our company is completely different to any other manufacturer throughout the world. It is obligatory for manufacturers to test their production, however, this is just basic food safety testing. None of the manufacturers test their products on micro-organisms and pesticides at Phytax laboratory or a similar level medical grade laboratory.
